What recommendations would you make to scale-up or share your project more broadly (within an educational sector, or perhaps SUNY-wide)?

1. I would recommend an online repository of makerspace projects to serve the higher education community. Many students visiting the pilot makerspace were interested in using the technology but they needed guidance on selecting and/or designing a project. The project repository would also provide faculty with ideas for incorporating makerspace projects into the curriculum. Many of the resources already available are geared toward K-12 educators.
2. High school libraries in our local school systems have started to pilot 3D printing. The mobile makerspace concept might have potential within the high school library systems.

If you would like to create a community of practice within the SUNY Learning Commons, please describe "members of your community" who would be most interested in your outcomes. Please be specific (e.g., math faculty, instructional designers, student services, registrars, administrators, accreditation or assessment specialists).

Librarians, STEM faculty

Do you intend to create an ongoing "Community of Practice" within the SUNY Learning Commons to continue work and dialog regarding this project?

Yes

Overall, how successful was IITG in meeting your project goals? (You may elaborate on your response in the final question if not addressed elsewhere.)

Very successful

Do you wish your current abstract to be used?

Yes
